

BANDITS PLAY TUESDAY GAME WITH ASYLUM

Polk Street Lot Will Become More Historical Than Ever By Reason of Memorial Day Clash; Two Games On Sunday

Added to what you've got, etc., every little game makes just a little bit more ball excitement. So, the Outlaws and the untrammelled Asylum Guards will take a smash at the festive snowflake Tuesday, Memorial Day.

The game was arranged between the two managers yesterday, in spite of the fact that some other games thought they had a contest scheduled for the same day, hour and place. Polk lot, the undesirable citizen of the admirably built-up First ward, but plumb popular as a baseball resort, will be the scene of the combat.

Meanwhile, valley baseball "dangers" are looking about for other games later, and figuring on the short schedule, given exclusive publicity in the only Phoenix sport page yesterday morning.

The Sunday games are: White Sox vs. Braves in Phoenix, and Mesa at Tempe.

RIFLE CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT

Campaign to Be Started to Obtain New Members of Organization Recently Put On Sound Footing. Fifty Members Wanted

There will be a meeting of the Phoenix Rifle Club this evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Armory, corner of First and Polk streets, for the purpose of devising ways and means to conduct a campaign for new members.

The club was recently reorganized at an enthusiastic meeting and officers elected to fill the vacancies created by the departure of the guard. Since that time several shooting parties have been on the club range north of the city under the charge of Executive Officer Tom Edens, and there has been a general manifestation of new interest all around in high power rifle shooting.

Several rifles have been ordered from the war department and thousands of rounds of ammunition will soon be in Phoenix for the use of members of the club.

It is the plan of the officers of the club to take in forty-five new members. This will give the organization a representative membership and enable it to be a factor in big gun shooting throughout the country. All members are urged to be present at the meeting this evening.

IN TWO-MILE RELAY AT PENN CARNIVAL

The Yale team won the two-mile relay race in the recent carnival at Philadelphia. It was not until the third relay, however, that the wearer of the "Y" succeeded in passing the Chicago and Michigan runners. This picture was taken just as Barker of Yale was making the spurt that put him in the lead early in the third quart.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—The Cleveland Americans were leading the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 1 today when a thunderstorm stopped the game at the end of the fourth inning.

COYOTE HALFBACKS BURNING UP COAST

ED BROOKS
Star Halfback of Occidental College

Ed Brooks, former Coyote halfback, will take the coast by storm next season was the remark made by Coach Stanton of the Oxy Tigers, in Spring Football Practice, the other day. Brooks is the fastest halfback Occidental has seen for years, and from the way Captain Deems and Coach Stanton have things lined up, Coach Gentry's two former halfbacks, Brooks and Peters, will be the stars on the coast next season for Occidental college.

MISSOURIANS' MOST LIKELY PICNIC HELD

Dozen Speakers Make Evening Session of Society Notable; Afternoon Taken Up With Lively Sport Program

Thoroughly Missouriian was the gathering of the former residents of that state, their kin and friends, at the annual society picnic at Eastlake park yesterday. Nearly 400 responded to the invitation to rendezvous under the trees and help demolish "vittles."

Early in the afternoon there was a matter of several hundred on the ground when the sports program was started. Games and competitions in which substantial prizes were awarded lasted from 2:20 until supper time.

The family plan, so successful in affairs of this sort, governed the supper. Huge hampers of food had been carried to the scene, and in the cool evening the grub was well appreciated by the hungry horde.

Those Kidding Speakers.

President Albert D. Leyhe, of the Missouri Society, presided at the speaking 'bee. He called first upon Robert S. Fisher, who refused to give a speech, but succeeded in amusing laughs in large quantities at the expense of the orators who were to follow him. He aimed his humor specially at his partner, Bob Jarrott, whose vain attempt to conceal his approaching wedding led to a sensational expose recently. Jarrott was finally forced to take the stand in his own defense, but in a swarm of lawyers he was utterly vanquished and made to grow pink in the region of the countenance.

Among the speakers were Ed Shaw, "Harvey" Betts, Henry L. Ends, Claude Decatur Jones, Mrs. E. L. Shaw, Judge P. P. Parker and C. C. Thompson. Thompson allowed that within ten days he would be visiting the old home state and would be seeing its governor. The society instantly voted him the job of totting its greetings to the Missouri executive, a task which he accepted.

Want Oftener Picnics

The Missourians want a reason for their annual picnic. They named a committee yesterday to search historical and even archaeological records for an excuse to gather and celebrate (as if true Missourians really needed an excuse to be jolly.) Anyway, they named C. C. Thompson, Ed Shaw, Mrs. J. H. Williams, C. D. Jones, R. S. Fisher and Henry L. Ends as the committee and told them to fly at it. And moreover, there will probably be a monthly picnic or outing of some sort by the exuberant sons and daughters of Missouri. That was another thing they brought up last evening.

President Leyhe received many congratulations on the success of this, the most successful of all the Missouri picnics. He asked The Republican to thank all those who helped to make the day a notable one.

Base Hits from the Tri-Copper League

BY "BOB" GIBSON.

A general shake up in the line-up of the Mill Team is looked for in the near future. Manager Arhagast has lined out for a couple of first class infielders, an outfielder and a left handed pitcher.

The Millers took a good beating Sunday when Ray walloped them, 11-2. Every man on the Ray team got at least one hit and a few of them two or three.

Ramage, the Miners' catcher, is catching a fine article of ball, and his throwing is hard and accurate.

"Flame" Delah, besides pitching airtight ball Sunday, was there with the stick, getting a double and a single.

Galena has been playing fine ball in the outfield for the Millers. Sunday in the Mine-Mill game he had four put outs and three assists.

Haukner for the Miners is playing a fine game around second and his hitting has been timely.

Although still limping from his injury received in the Mill-Mines game of ten-days ago, Downey, the Miners' third sacker, was the fielding star of the Sunday game at Ray.

Garrity, the little shotstop of the Miners, shone brilliantly on a couple of plays Sunday. On one, going almost behind third for the ball, and by a fine throw got his man at first. On the other he took a slow hit ball just out of Downey's reach, and by a snap throw while running at full speed got his man.

Manager "Spot" McMurdo of the Smelter thinks he has the best team in the league now and is not figuring on any changes, unless some of his men get in a bad slump.

Manager Herb Hester of the Ray Miners is confident that his club will soon be in the lead and is going to stand pat with the club he now has on the field. In Scanlon and Brady he has two first class utility men.

Dick Bayless is hitting as good as ever this year. He got two hits in Sunday's game against the Miners. Wachob relieved Carisch in the fifth inning of the Mines-Mill game. He was at bat three times with one hit

Public Service

Some people believe that advertising merely takes business away from one man and hands it to his competitor. They think that if everybody stopped advertising, business would go on just the same, and things would be cheaper.

It sounds plausible. But it is not true.

Advertising is, of course, much used as a competitive weapon, and a very powerful one. Any method of selling, advertising, show windows, clerks, traveling men, gets business that without the selling effort would have gone to some other firm.

Most of us believe that competition is a good thing. It keeps down prices. It keeps up quality. It makes business men more eager to give the public good service. Any economical method of competition ought therefore to be regarded as of benefit to the public.

And the economy of truthful advertising purely as a competitive method has been clearly demonstrated in many great industries over a period of years.

The main question, however, is: What does advertising do besides stimulate competition?

Advertising is like the railroad, the trolley, the telephone, the school—a creator of human activity. It is a force for the wider and quicker dissemination of information. It brings within our ken things that we never knew existed, or never thought we wanted. It teaches us to want things a little beyond our grasp and to work a little harder in order to get them. It is like the rifle that the modern Tom Sawyer saw in the window. He had intended to loaf all summer, but he wanted that rifle. In order to get it he had to have money. To get money he went out and painted fences and ran errands and mowed lawns. The knowledge that there was a rifle that he could have, if he worked for it, made him a producer instead of a dependent.

Advertising creates new desires. These create new demands. Demands create new markets.

It makes possible new products, new ways of doing things, a better national life.

We Americans believe in a constantly advancing civilization. We believe that people ought to keep on trying to live a little better and to have a little more comfort, a little more convenience, and a little more ambition. Because our philosophy includes these tenets, we also believe that whatever shows people the way and rouses their ambition to possess—and to produce in order to possess—is a public service.

It is upon that basis that advertising—truthful advertising—has come to be not primarily a weapon of competition, but primarily a means of constructive public service.

TWO TITLED GOLFERS OUT OF DALLAS BOUT

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

DALLAS, May 25.—Charles L. Dexter, Jr., who won the title of Southern Golf champion last year, was eliminated today in the fourth round of the championship tournament of the Southern Golf Association, now in progress, on the links of the Dallas Country club. P. G. Bush of New Orleans was the conqueror of the title holder in a match that ended on the 17th green, with Bush two up.

In the morning round Bush defeated George W. Rotan of Waco, many times champion of Texas, who was regarded as a likely contender for final honors. Bush outdrove and output Dexter all the way in the four round, and was as fresh tonight apparently, as when he first teed off. He is regarded as a strong favorite for final honors though his semi-final match of 36 holes tomorrow with S. C. Hurst of Dallas, is expected to develop golf of intense interest.

Hurst took his fourth round match from C. H. Munger of Dallas, one up. The other semi-final match tomorrow will be between J. E. England of Little Rock, champion of Arkansas, and Bryan Heard of Houston, the sixty year old golfer, whose play has been one of the sensations of the tournament.
